THE WEDDING INVITATION.

How a Man Feels When He Gets One and His Efforts at Present Buying.

A wedding invitation is practically an admission ticket, costing $20, to the church service; reception at the house afterward, extra; cards to the at home, more extra, says the Insurance Press.

When a man gets an invitation nowadays he feels as he does when he has been served with a subpoena. He spouts about the idiosyncrasy of marriage in general, and wonders why in thunder, or somewhere else where thunder is unknown, those little fools didn't just stand up and get married and get it over with. Then when he calms down he is inveigled into making an appointment with his wife at some jeweler's. There he is met with a bewildering array of silver trowels, meat saws, and miniature pitchforks, which his learned wife explains to him are fish knives, lettuce servers, and berry forks, respectively.

Then, as his eyes wander about the store, he spies a golden ball, perforated with fancy holes, and he ventures the facetious remark to his wife that they might take time by the forelock and send that baby's rattle. Which is met by the chilling rejoinder that "that" is a tea ball, and it is just the very thing. And so the man hands over the necessary and his wife directs where the golden tea ball shall be sent.

The feelings of a strong, healthy man being required to attach his card to a dinky tea ball and send it to a young couple as a mark of his good wishes fail either of expression or description.

AND THE FROG CAME BACK.

Was Taken Far from His Favorite Spring House, But They Couldn't Lose Him.

Nearly every living thing has a local habitation and abiding place which it regards as its home. Even frogs have an attachment for particular places in which to spend their leisure hours. About three years ago a Pennsylvania farmer named Anderson found a large frog in front of the spring house, and when the milkmaid opened the door to put her pail of milk in the spring the frog hopped in behind her.

"Goodness!" said the maid, "but you're a big fellow."

It was a big fellow. From his nose to the ends of his extended legs the frog measured 15 inches. It hopped out of reach of the girl's hand and partially buried itself in a bed of clay in the darkest corner of the spring house. There, in a stupor, neither eating nor drinking, it remained until the spring. Then it departed.

Each autumn since then the frog has appeared at the first sign of frost and made his winter bed in the spring house. This year he came as usual. But the farmer desired to make an experiment on him. He was awakened, lifted from his warm clay nest, placed in a wagon and carried to a place a mile down the road. There he was left.

Before evening he was back again. The milkmaid found him at sunset seated before the spring house door, waiting patiently to be let in.

HANDY JOBS FOR MAIMED.

Thoughtful Corporation at Elmira, N. Y., Provides for Injured Employees.

"Up in my city," said ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett, to a New York Times writer, "we have a corporation more thoughtful of its employees than are most corporations. Frequently one of them gets a hand or an arm taken off, but instead of casting the men so maimed adrift the corporation provides places for them where, men with but one hand can work satisfactorily. The one-armed men soon learn to profit to a certain extent by their misfortune. The men with right hands pair off with the men with left hands and in that way one pair of gloves, mittens, cuffs and such things does for both."

"But more practicable even than that is the sight of two such men at the theater. A man with a right hand left sits next to a man with a left hand also left and when anything pleases them they turn instinctively toward each other, clap their remaining hands together and contribute more than would seem possible to the applause."

Eating Glass.

"How much glass do you suppose that you consume daily?" a Philadelphia physician asked of one of his patients the other day, and then went on, in response to other's interrogative look: "It is a fact that we all swallow each day more or less glass, the manufacturers not having yet reached the point where their product is impervious to the action of fluids. He who drinks beer consumes the most glass. A chemical analysis of any bottled beer inevitably reveals some of the glass' constituents. But the water drinker, too, swallows his share. In a carafe or in a glass pitcher have you ever noticed the odd line which marks the level that the water has had? Well, that line shows how the water has changed the appearance of the glass slightly by absorbing some of its components. And so every day, when we drink beer or water or milk, we consume a little glass. But it does no harm. I have yet to hear of any disease that it has ever caused."

Marriage of Peers.

In the course of a paper read at an insurance meeting in Edinburgh, Mr. M. M. Lees stated that the maximum rate of marriage among peers was reached between the ages of 20 and 25, as compared with 25 to 30 years in the case of the general population.

We Mourn and We are Comforted.

Mr. Harry Wadsworth Hite, a prominent member of the Paris Fire Department and ex-city official, has gone to Danville, Ill., to make that city his future home. Mr. Hite has accepted a position with a bill posting firm of that city. Upon Mr. Hite's departure the NEWS "devil" composed the following in honor of the event:

We love you and we miss you,
And our hearts are filled with pain;
We dread to contemplate the fact,
That we may never see you again.

LATER.—Mr. Hite arrived home yesterday. He says the water at Danville did not agree with him.

LAND WIRELESS NEWSPAPER.

First Publication of the Kind in the History of Journalism, on the Pacific Coast.

The only daily newspaper in the world publishing "sure-enough" dispatches transmitted by wireless telegraph had its birth on March 25 at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island. The event is important in the history of journalism and marks the beginning of an epoch in the dissemination of news in isolated places, says the Scientific American. The name of the infant journal is the Wireless, appropriately so called on account of the method by which it receives the news of the busy world. The unique sheet begins its career in the shape of a three-column folio, the exact size of the pages being 11 by 8 inches. In this convenient form is crowded, in addition to the local news of Avalon, an epitome of the local and general news appearing simultaneously in the Los Angeles Times, thus giving the residents of the island and visitors to its lovely shores a comprehensive synopsis of all the principal news of the world hours before the arrival of the steamer from the mainland with the Los Angeles morning paper.

Honest London Policemen.

Josiah Flynt, whose studies of the "under world" are so well known, has been devoting attention to the police system of London, England. The most striking facts from the American point of view, that his observations reveal are: (1) That the force is composed mainly of honest and conscientious men; (2) that politics is not allowed to play any part in the management and direction of the organization; (3) that London is one of the safest cities in the world. As to police corruption in London, there is very little to report. Mr. Flynt found no corruption which could be compared with the blackmailing system for which the New York police have been so long notorious. Gambling is punished speedily.
